

Protection Concept David G. Simons Academy, DGSA®

This is how we protect our participants and instructors from the corona virus at our courses.

Masks are no longer mandatory on our DGSA® courses. However, we still recommend wearing a mask.

We continue to pay attention in keeping the distance, and we ask our participants to practice in the same couples during the entire course and to sit next to each other during the theory classes.

There will be enough soap, disposable paper towels, hand disinfectant and surface disinfectant available.

The participants should bring their own towels to cover the treatment table.

Please stay at home when you have symptoms of a cold or a flu.

Please note the regulations regarding Covid-19 that apply in certain countries and observe the applicable protection concept of the respective course organizer.
